

THE RELIGIOUS STATE OF THE 918 VIRTUAL RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

A Conference on Religious Diversity
Friday, February 26, 2021

- Keynote speaker Dr. Eric Reitan, Oklahoma State University, “Is Religious Diversity a Threat to Faith?”
- Plenary speaker Dr. Lisa Barnett, Phillips Theological Seminary, “Peyote and the Native American Church in Oklahoma”
- Paper, poster, and panel presentations by undergraduate students from TCC and other area colleges and universities
- Hosted by the Tulsa Community College Honors Program
- Funded by Oklahoma Humanities and the Tulsa Community College Foundation

FREE and open to the public, but registration is required at <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/4090E4FACA822A0FDO-religious>

For proposal-submission guidelines (undergraduate college and university students are eligible) or questions about the event, contact Dr. Allen Culpepper, TCC Honors Program Coordinator, allen.culpepper@tulsacc.edu

This program is funded in part by Oklahoma Humanities (OH) and the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). Any views, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed in the program do not necessarily represent those of OH or NEH, nor those of Tulsa Community College, the TCC Foundation, or the TCC Honors Program.